the more we learn of passing events the more we see cause to adhere to what we have previously defined as the "policy of force" tempered by humanity and justice. Again, though we fear in vain, we raise a protest against the incapacity which renders such outrages possible.

We find the subjoined paragraph in our contemporary of this morning:—

The Hongkong public is still waiting to hear from Macao, that the pirates engaged in the Amunite affair have been brought to trial. It hears, on the contrary, that the Macao Portuguese implicated in the affair are still at large and still holding barracks and, doing business in coconuts. The Independent, of the 12th instant, details this, but such a denial is futile in the face of well known facts. One Jaime dos Santos is one of the men charged with the offence. Will the Independent say that he is not now dealing in emigrants? Will the Independent publish the names of those who get as keepers of his barracks? The names of two more of the accused might possibly be found on the list. If you, Senior Sergio da Souza, wish to convince the world that you are in earnest in your determination to put a stop to the crimes that have disgraced the name of Portugal, committed in connection with this migration from Macao, and to vindicate your country and your religion from the dishonour brought upon it, you will pursue promptly and vigorously the men concerned in the greatest scandal of modern days, the foulest crime that ever defiled the good name of a nation, the robbery and murder of the Amunite sevys and their escort, and punish with merciless severity the guilty wretches who are in your power. Give this proof of your sincerity, and England will believe in your bona fides, and your subjects make up their minds that you are really in earnest when you prohibit the slave trade.

The defendant in Regina v. Saint cannot adjure the Acting Attorney-General of Hongkong in such strong language, but it is impossible to avoid remarking that there seems to be an equal reluctance (supposing the above statements are correct) in Macao and in this Colony to take any steps that would lead to an exposure of the horrors of the coolie trade—as formerly carried on, at any rate. Perhaps the learned A. A. G. does not care to proceed. It is upon record that once upon a time, the A. A. G. sat on the Supreme Court bench and heard an application for a criminal information for libel, arising out of some remarks by the then defendant, who represented the China Mail. No previous recourse had been had to the Attorney-General. Mr Pollard, who appeared for the prosecutor, said "he did not think that the Attorney-General should be called upon to prosecute every libeller." His Lordship (i. e., the present A. A. G.) replied, "certainly not; he ought only to act in cases of a flagrant and very malicious character." And the application was dismissed. Now the libel alleged against the present defendant is "flagrant and very malicious" in which case why is the prosecution not gone on with? Or it is not. Then why has the A. A. G. made himself the agent of a prosecution which as a judge he would condemn? We know that judges receive no fees, but an honest difference of opinion may be admitted to arise quite independently of any "consideration" of that sort. It must not be for a moment supposed that the A. A. G. is prolonging the action from any motive of pay. In fact, we believe that it would be inconsistent with his position, as prosecutor for Her Majesty, to accept fees from Her Majesty's clients, and therefore the A. A. G. does not profit in any sense by delay; but one has a right to assert that if defendant's alleged libels are of a "flagrant and very malicious character," the A. A. G. owes it to Her Majesty's clients to proceed with the action. There may be reasons why he will not, but they must be left to the imagination to conceive.

LOCAL

CRIMINAL

By a list elsewhere published, it will be seen that the roll for this month's Criminal Session of the Supreme Court is one of the heaviest for the last few years. There are no less than three murders, one piracy with endangering of life, and two or three highway robberies by armed offenders. The prospect is a pleasant one for the Jurors who have been unfortunate enough to be called on the present Session.

The premises of Messrs Lane, Crawford & Co, had a narrow escape from fire this forenoon; and on the principle that small beginnings make big endings, the escape may be looked upon by all as most satisfactory. It appears that a coolie was engaged, by the aid of a lamp, in spilling a hoghead of brandy or other spirit in a corner of the lower godown, when by some accident a spark of spirit caught the flame of the lamp and was up in a blue flame all over in a moment. A number of rum casks near by were enveloped in the flame, and from the nature of the surroundings, had the flame not been at once checked by the admirable arrangements of the firm on this head, the fire must have obtained a hold which no engine in the world could have checked. The coolie, who was considerably scorched on the right leg and left arm, was conveyed to Hospital after having been attended to and dressed by a medical man. We believe that the local Brigade attached to the Hongkong Fire Insurance Engine were in readiness to commence operations when their services were rendered unnecessary by the extinction of this dangerous game of coolie "snap-dragon" on a large scale.

The two Kowloon stone-cutters are now in court trial for having been concerned in causing the death of Mr Yaucey at Kowloon Docks, were brought before Mr May on remand to-day. Evidence produced went so far as to prove that prisoners left their work the night of the attack and returned next morning early, one of them having a cut in his forehead, the origin of which we would not account for.

A CHINAMAN was, we believe, apprehended on board the P. M. S. S. China shortly before she sailed, who is said to be the man who lately knocked down and robbed Mr Cunningham.

TO-DAY'S POLICE.

Mr May was on the Bench, but there were few cases of importance.

Captain Carey, of the Royal Artillery, appeared to charge Léong No. 56 with having committed an assault upon his little boy in the Public Gardens last night. From the evidence of Master Carey, it appeared that the little fellow had accidentally dropped a stick into the basin of the Fountain, for which the Léong (without explanation) came forward and hit him on the leg. Captain Carey stated that, on seeing his little boy beaten, he gave the Léong a thrashing and then gave him into custody. It was not by any means the first time that little children were beaten by the Léong, and on one occasion one little fellow retaliated and struck the Léong. Defendant having struck the Léong, but stated that he received a sound thrashing from the indignant father. His Worship remarked that the Léong had done very wrong in striking a little boy, and Captain Carey was charged to Tsoeng-kwo-fan, and he satisfying himself that the Vice-Roy had not done anything to reprimand his adverse defendant, he was charged, to Tsoeng-kwo-fan, and would not be called upon to make any further statement.

The Governor-general has returned from Nanking, but we are informed he has not effected any thing of importance with reference to the Tsoeng-kwo-fan beyond the personal delivery of a despatch, with which he was charged, to the Léong, and the Léong was charged, to the Vice-Roy. His Worship remarked that the Léong may offer resistance; or if they do not, that the Chinese may go farther than the necessities of the case may require, and not content themselves, as they should, with merely bringing the men to their court, provided they do not offer resistance.

M.'s Consulate has returned from Nanking, but we are informed he has not effected any thing of importance with reference to the Tsoeng-kwo-fan beyond the personal delivery of a despatch, with which he was charged, to the Léong, and the Léong was charged, to the Vice-Roy. The Governor-general has returned from Nanking, but we are informed he has not effected any thing of importance with reference to the Tsoeng-kwo-fan beyond the personal delivery of a despatch, with which he was charged, to the Léong, and the Léong was charged, to the Vice-Roy. His Worship remarked that the Léong may offer resistance; or if they do not, that the Chinese may go farther than the necessities of the case may require, and not content themselves, as they should, with merely bringing the men to their court, provided they do not offer resistance.

F. W. MITCHELL,
Postmaster General,
General Post-Office,
Hongkong, October 12, 1868. oct20

1.—On the 1st October next, and thenceforward Money Orders will be issued at this Office and at the Agencies thereof at Shanghai and Yokohama on all the Money Order Offices in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, for amounts not exceeding £10, at the rate of Exchange Current for Each Mail, and charged with Commission according to the following Scale, viz.—

For sum not exceeding £2,..... Cents.
Above £2 and not exceeding £5,..... 24
" 5,..... 27
" 27,..... 48

2.—No Money Order to include a fractional part of a Penny.

3.—Orders drawn in the United Kingdom upon Hongkong, Shanghai, and Yokohama, will be paid at the rate of Exchange at which Money Orders are being issued at the time of their presentation.

4.—Alphabetical Lists of over 3,700 Money Order Offices in the United Kingdom, shewing the Counties in which they are situated, are hung up for public reference at this Office, and also at Shanghai and Yokohama.

5.—Applicants for Money Orders must furnish, in full, the surname, and, at least, the initial of one Christian name, both of the Remitter and the Payee; if the Remitter or Payee be a Peer or a Bishop, his ordinary name will be sufficient; if a firm, the usual designation of such firm, such as "Baring Brothers" will suffice; but the mere title "Master," such as "Master, Riddington," or the name of a Company trading under a title which does not consist of the names of the persons composing it, such as "Caron Co." is inadmissible.

6.—The Remitter or Payee, on stating that the Order is to be paid only through a Bank, to have the option of giving or withdrawing the name of the Payee; in such case, the Order will be crossed in the same way that Cheques are commonly crossed when they are intended to be paid through a Bank.

7.—When an Order is presented through a Bank, a receipt by any person will be sufficient, provided the Order be crossed with the name of the receiving Bank, and be presented by some Person known to be in the employ of such Bank.

8.—The signature of the Payee of a Money Order to be affixed to the Order in the place provided for the purpose. If the Payee be unable to write he must sign the Order by making his mark in the presence of a Witness, who must sign his name, with his address in the presence of the Officer who pays the Order.

9.—Should the Payee of a Money Order desire to receive payment in the Country in which the Order was issued, at some other Office than that in which the Order was originally drawn, the transfer will be granted, provided the Order be crossed to the Postmaster of the Office in which it was drawn. In such case a new Order will be issued, the Commission chargeable, upon which will be deducted from the amount of the new Order, the original.

10.—In the event of a Money Order incriminating being lost, a duplicate will be granted on a written application from the Payee, containing the necessary particulars, and accompanied by an additional Commission to the Office where the Original Order was payable.

11.—On the receipt of a similar application, orders will be given to stop payment of a Money Order, or to renew a lapsed Order. The additional Commission in the last case will be deducted from the amount of the new Order. Lapsed Orders must be presented with the application for a new Order.

12.—But when it is desired that any Order in the name of the Remitter or Payee should be corrected or that the amount of a Money Order should be repaid, to the Remitter, or that a Lapsed Order should be renewed for payment in the Country in which the Order was originally drawn, application must be made to the Chief Money Order Office of such Country. This application must be accompanied by an additional Commission, unless it have reference to a Lapsed Order, in which case the Commission will be deducted from the amount of the New Order.

13.—Repayment whether of an original, or renewed, or a duplicate Order, will not be made to the remitter until it has been ascertained that the advice has been cancelled at the Office on which the Order was originally drawn.

14.—Payment of an Order must be obtained before the end of the Sixth Calendar Month after that in which it was drawn; for instance, if drawn in January, payment must be obtained before the end of July, otherwise the Order will become lapsed, and a new Order (for which a second Commission, to be deducted from the amount of the Order, will be charged) will become necessary.

15.—If an Order be not paid before the end of the Twelfth Calendar Month after that in which it was drawn, for instance, if drawn in January, and not paid before the end of the following January, all claim to the Money will be forfeited, unless, while those who are attested by the debilitating effect of the above climates will find in this wonderful remedy a kind of panacea for all diseases peculiar to Indians, whereby they may insure a restoration to robust health.
